

Multi-hazard and risk informed system for Enhanced local and regional Disaster risk management

MEDiate Newsletter #1 - April 2023

MEDiate is a 3-year project that aims to develop a decision support system (DSS) for disaster risk management by considering multiple interacting natural hazards and cascading impacts using a novel resilient-informed and service-oriented approach that accounts for forecasted modifications in the hazard, vulnerability and exposure. The project will consist of analysis of relevant data and co-development with testbed decision-makers of a DSS to enable more reliable resilience assessments, accounting for risk mitigation and adaptive capabilities, to be made, therefore reducing losses from future climate related and geophysical disasters.

CASE STUDIES

Climate change is acting all over the world, in different ways, often causing damage to structures, populations and the environment. MEDiate has partners in four testbeds located in four European countries. Discover the sites and natural hazard in each area!

EVENTS

Kick-off meeting

The project officially started in October 2022 and the Kick-off meeting took place in Oslo on the 10th of October. The MEDiate project has officially started! The Kick-off provided the opportunity for all partners to better understand the different Work Packages, their interrelationship, the role of the partners and the organization of the work in the coming months.

CERIS event

MEDiate Project was for the first time invited to attend and present our recently started project at a CERIS (Community for European Research and Innovation for Security) – Disaster Resilient Societies event. For more information about the Event.
